

National Day of Truth and Reconciliation
September 29th, 2021

for immediate release

September 29th, 2021 – The federal Government has marked September 30th as the National Day for Truth and Reconciliation following the adoption of legislation. The District of Fort St. James, following the federal government, will observe this important day each year beginning in 2021. The municipal office and public works department will be closed for the day in recognition.

The National Day of Truth and Reconciliation is an opportunity to understand the history and ongoing trauma caused by residential schools and honour the children who were lost and the survivors, families, and communities who mourn.

Mayor and Council of the District of Fort St. James will be participating in the community Breakfast planned for September 30th, 2021 from 9:00-11:00 a.m at Kwah Hall and invite community members to join. An afternoon event will be held at Cottonwood Park beginning at 2:15 p.m with drumming, and speakers.
